Awareness program on Water Borne Diseases was conducted Kamla Nehru College of Pharmacy, at Shirul Village on 19th January 2018. Dr. Jagdish R. Baheti, Principal, Kamla Nehru College of Pharmacy, Butibori, focuses on poor water quality becomes inevitable when water gets polluted with industrial waste, human waste, animal waste, garbage, untreated sewage, chemical effluents, etc. Drinking or cooking with such polluted water leads to waterborne diseases and infections such as amoebiasis, giardiasis, and toxoplasmosis. Dr. Parimal P. Katolkar, Asso. Prof., Kamla Nehru College of Pharmacy, Butibori address the precautions to prevent waterborne disease:

Ensure the water is visibly clean and free from sand and silt.

Filter the water to get rid of visible dirt. Drink only clean and safe water – either portable water or water filtered through water purifiers. Get water purifying devices like filters, RO unit, etc., regularly serviced and maintained. Ensure stored water is germ-free. Add antiseptic liquid, such as Dettol in dubious-looking bathing water. Hand hygiene – regularly wash hands with soap after returning home, after using the toilet, before and after preparing food, before eating or drinking anything.

Teach hand hygiene to children. Children should make it a habit to always wash hands when returning home after playing games. Ensure food is washed and thoroughly cooked.

Use disposable glass and plates whenever possible when eating outside food, particularly street food. Avoid eating stale cooked food, unrefrigerated food kept exposed outside for long hours.

Take vaccinations for immunization against preventable diseases like Typhoid, Hepatitis A, Polio, etc. Amar SewaMandal's Kamla Nehru College of Pharmacy Borkhedi (gate), Butibori, Nagpur-441 108 (M.S.)
