About Conference

The Pharma Industry is facing rapidly changing challenges, including geopolitical tensions, technological changes, shifts in global markets, and the impact of climate change. Digitalization and automation are the game changers to meet these challenges. It is essential to collect, understand and use the massive amount of data created in the Industrial Internet of Things (IIoT). Speakers are leaders in helping the pharma industry embrace these changes and would discuss the nuances of these interrelated topics. This would be of great help to the pharma professionals for gaining insights of current changes and some upcoming futuristic career avenues.

E-certificate will be provided to all attendees in one week.

bound through his interesting presentation of high-level technical facts with examples of applications from day-to-day routine. The QnA session was informative as well.

Second session on the topic; Digitization in Pharma Industry was found to be an extension of the first session. Dr. Pankaj Dhapke introduced the guest to the audience. As Mr. Sandeep Mantri, Head Mfg. Automation, at Biocon was also present at Mr. Rathi's session, he extended the points, like automation in pharma & smart decision making through his experiences in implementation of MES in Pharmaceuticals domain companies. He very well explained how the different systems work in tandem to automate processes in the industry and are being monitored to make medications more accurately and flawlessly. The speaker expressed his readiness to answer any queries from the audience even after an extended QnA session was satisfactorily completed.

Third session was in tune with the first two sessions. The speaker Mr. Harshardhan Karkar was introduced by Dr. Nitin Padole. The speaker delivered lecture on the topic: Automation in Pharma Industry using SAP. The utility of ERP software like SAP was introduced by Mr. Mantri which was further elaborated through sharing of his experiences by Mr. Karkar. The QnA session was also found to be interesting.

The last session of the conference was on the topic: Digitization and Data for Pharma Industry. Speaker Mr. Maitreya Labhe was introduced by Mr. Shubham Ghatode. The speaker demonstrated how IIoT implementation for automation is done through live data example. The session demonstrated how the actual automation process takes place right from extraction of data from machines to building live dashboards to read the data. The QnA was also satisfactorily completed.

All the sessions experienced good audience response on the platform and through live streaming platform as well. Dr. Nitin Padole, Co-coordinator of the conference distributed feedback forms and certificates to the attendees. The Conference concluded with vote of thanks from Mrs. Kavita Pandey.
